WHICHER RANGE TRIP –LONG WEEKEND - SEPTEMBER 2018

Friday 21 September

Tony, Eliah, James, Jacob, Max and Morgan in the big troopy, Kym, Glenda, Jenny and Charlie Brown in the white Paj along with Paul and Debby in the Prado towing their new camper arrived at the Whicher Range campsite at about 3pm only to find Joe and Alisa had beaten them there and were already set up.

Joe was keen to get the fire going so out he went in the mighty Sahara with drag chain attached to snig in some logs for the night. With the help of the boys the fire was started and soon rose to WW heights fueled by the logs retrieved by Joe.

Others to arrive on Friday night were Alan and Alison, Barb, Chris, Cara and girls and finally around midnight Paul and Mirella who came in quietly to ensure no one was woken up.

Saturday 22 September

After a hearty breakfast of bacon and eggs a convoy of eight vehicles lead by Tony set off for a morning run to Darnell's store for an ice cream and some supplies. On the way out the convoy passed Graham, Michelle and family on their way into camp.

Through a bit of mud and then down Tame Road to Great North Road and a short stop for a paddle in a cold Margaret River at Rapids crossing before proceeding on down Mowen Road to the store for some milk an ice cream and some lollies.

After leaving the store refreshed the convoy deviated down a narrow track with a number of wash aways and one particularly deep one which swallowed one vehicle in the convoy putting it on a precarious angle much to the concern of its passenger which required an extraction (the vehicle not the passenger!!) by snatch strap because the driver forgot to engage his vehicle's additional extraction aids.

Onward through 200 meters of water covering the track suggesting the convoy may be in the river but relief, dry ground ahead then across the real Margaret River and up a sliding boggy embankment providing some fun for all finally arriving at the church that Tony's grandfather had built some eighty years ago for some prayers .

On the way back to camp those who were game (no adults) went for a dip in Canebrook Pool.

The afternoon was spent watching the Eagles cream Melbourne on Paul's satellite TV which he kindly set up for all. The young folk (ages 2 to 13) all played happily together in the sand making sandcastles or collecting firewood. As evening approached Joe hooked up some more firewood and snigged it in behind the Landcruiser as it would be needed to build up the coals for the damper competition after the evening meal.

After dinner dampers were cooked in camp ovens. All dampers were adjudged tasty by Judge Tony but winner narrowly Alisa (and Joe). Dampers away marsh mallows came out for toasting on the fire.

Sunday 23 September

Day run today. Convoy 9 vehicles set off from camp about 10.15pm, small river crossing through bush track and out onto Sue's Road before turning right along a bush track where a small fallen tree blocked the convoy's path. Chain saws out and tree removed allowing progress before encountering another fallen tree too large to move so with assistance of the chain saws a detour was cut enabling vehicles to proceed on down track and left onto another track through boggy sections and onto an aqua coloured pool.

Plan was then to visit an old fire tower for a morning tea stop but as the road into the tower was blocked (presumably for safety reasons) a decision was made to press on to the Berry Farm for a look around and lunch.

After lunch and a brief stop in the town of Margaret River it was on to the Millers Farm Cafe in Cowaramup for one of their delicious ice creams each before the convoy took a roundabout way back to camp through bush tracks observing a large ostrich in a paddock on the way.

Back in camp Joe snigs in a few more logs and we enjoy happy hour and dinner around a crackling campfire with marshmallows on the go.

Monday 24 September

Off home for Paul, Mirella, Alan, Alison, Paul, Debbie, Barb, Chris, Cara and family with a leisure day for those that stay.

Weather turned out good and it was great to see Tony and Jenny's 4 grandsons (1 adopted), Michelle and Graham's son and daughter and Chris and Cara' girls playing and getting on so well together despite the age difference.

KULIN BUSH RACES trip OCTOBER 4-7, 2018

What a fun weekend that was! The Kulin Bush Races had been suggested several times for the club calendar but either rarely happened or had a very small turnout. Now I'm sorry we never had the chance or made a bigger effort to go before.

This was the first trip for our new caravan so being with a convoy of vans was a good safety net to have. We arranged to meet Joe & Elisa, Kym & Glenda and Marian & Keith in Williams for lunch on the Thursday. The drive from Mandurah up the hill to Dwellingup and then through the rolling hills and winding roads out to Williams was a new experience towing a much larger caravan than I was previously used to. It was a little unnerving to start with and slow and steady was the order of the day. Both the Pajero and the driver did a little more work than normal!

All the gang arrived in Williams at about the same time and we made contact on CH14 to arrange a lunch stop at the Woolshed. We were greeted in Williams by the police doing random breath tests. Keith had to do two tests in two minutes as he had to make a u-turn to join us. Despite his protest that he had just done one, the same policemen tested him again because... "we're instructed to test every driver that comes through the stop". Fortunately Keith hadn't consumed a six-pack in the intervening two minutes.

A few of us decide to buy a light lunch at the Woolshed cafe. While the food was very nice, I think we could have whipped up a 3 course meal in the caravan in a much shorter time. In fact it took so long the police had packed up their RBT and moved on. After being fed and watered we headed on down the road to Kulin. The transit area and caravan park in Kulin were very full with people waiting for the races. We continued on through the town and along the Tin Horse Highway for about 14km to the racecourse.

The races admission cost included two nights camping on the Friday and Saturday nights. None of us had been to Kulin Races before, so we had no idea how busy it would be, how big it was, what facilities were there or what the camping arrangements were. We decided arriving a day early would let us beat the crowds in. So did lots of others - There must have been at least 500 tents/vans/motorhomes already in place in the campground, which was basically a large farming field (maybe 50-100 acres) that had been slashed down to stubble level. It was a lovely setting in between two large granite outcrops and on the edge of a white saltlake. There were several portable toilet blocks and even a few basic showers with hot water.

There were no instructions other than "park anywhere you like" and "don't reserve places for others". It was a bit confusing as there were lots of areas roped off but had no signage on them. We later figured out that was early campers ignoring instruction 2. Eventually we found a good spot down on the fence line near the lake and circled the wagons – or more correctly, 'squared the wagons'. That gave us nice private shared area between the vans and a perfect place for the campfire.

Thursday night was Karen's birthday so we had the mandatory birthday cake and song. On Friday morning we headed back into town to look at the dozens of tin horse sculptures more closely and take pictures of them. Most were very clever and funny. In town there were lots of interesting activities such as the motor/farm museum, arts & craft displays, and CWA morning tea. The CWA hall was very, very busy and we paid our $5 to have a cuppa and delicious homemade scones and cakes. I overheard one of the poor overworked lady helpers complain "I'm supposed to be a farmer not a bloody waitress!".

Back at camp on Friday evening, Bob & Leslie had arrived and set up tent near the main events area. We all went to check out the food, drink and entertainment venues to see what was in store for the weekend. In the main tent, there was a mature-aged lady playing the saxophone and she had a huge repertoire of songs across all eras and genres – I don't know how she remembered so many lyrics. Interestingly her act was called "Sax and the Single Girl". She could carry a tune, play the sax really well and was full of energy – very entertaining and she played for hours.

Friday also saw the huge influx of campers and the farm area filled up quickly. It was quite a sight from the top of the rock outcrop - a vast sea of tents, campers and caravans. The organisers said it was the best attended yet with well in excess of 4,000 people attending, easily beating last year's record of 3,900.

Saturday was the big race day. There was the grand parade (of 4 vehicles), a Scottish pipe band (I love those bagpipes) and a number of the racehorses on show. It's a real fun program with most horses running in two races, many of the horses in the 15-18yo age bracket and even a race for jockeys over 80kg. There were also novelty events like around-the-barrel rodeo riding, painted sheep races, dog races, children's races and tug-of-wars. The sheep were hilarious, leaping and bounding out the stalls, running halfway down the track and then stopping in a flock not knowing where to go next.

Getting into the spirit of the day, Karen, Glenda and Elisa donned their fancy race dresses, fascinators and brightest wellie boots. They looked such an elegant trio stomping through the dusty paddock in their wellies and attracted lots of looks and photo requests. We heard one old farmer ask his wife, "Is that really the new fashion these days??".

The first horse race set the scene for my betting success for the day. My horse was leading all the way until the last corner, when it decided it had had enough, turned right instead of left and headed back towards the stables!!! The jockey eventually managed to turn it around and came past the post about a minute after the others – hilarious. I never picked a winner for the whole day. Unlike Karen's brother Paul, who arrived first thing Saturday morning just before race 1 and picked the first 3 winners in a row to pocket a tidy $90 to start the day off nicely.

The day continued well with entertainment by a local band, Sax and the Single Girl and the Scottish Pipe Band. Food and drink outlets were very popular as were the betting lines. Luckily the sun shone for the whole day although the wind was a bit chilly at times and I needed to scrounge Leslie's crocheted blanket for a while to stay warm. Apparently we had some of the best weather they have seen for some time at the races.

Saturday night saw a huge fireworks display which seemed to go on forever. We watched it from back at the campsite by the warmth and comfort of our private campfire. In the distance I could hear the main act playing loads of great Aussie and British songs. I thought at the time they sounded pretty good but didn't find out until the next day they were a group of 4 musicians from some well-known and successful Aussie bands (Powderfinger, Jets, Spiderbait and You am I). I wished I had taken the time to go and watch them perform up close. I'll pay more attention and keep an eye out for them next time.

Sunday morning saw the packing up and mass exodus of thousands of caravans. We expected that so many people leaving in short space of time on a single country road would have caused a huge traffic jam. But in fact it went very smoothly and there were no holdups whatsoever.

The whole weekend was thoroughly enjoyed by all of us and actually much better than I expected. 2019 is the 25th anniversary of the Kulin Bush Races so I expect they will put on something extra special for that. Its definitely one for the club event calendar for next year. I know Karen and I will be there.

Four Wheel Drive and Camping Show November 16-18, 2018

Our club has often discussed having a Wanneroo Wanderers stand at the 4WD show in past years but had trouble getting sufficient volunteers to commit to preparing material and manning a dedicated stand for 3-4 days. This year the WA 4WD Association offered to provide a general area inside the Association tent for smaller clubs to be represented. A fairly last-minute decision was made at the November monthly meeting to take up this offer.

The aim of our presence at the 4WD show was to try to attract new members to the club. Membership turnover has seen the club numbers drop progressively over the past few years and we need new people to ensure the club remains viable and active. More retired members travelling extensively can also make it difficult to have sufficient numbers for some events and trips.

Kym Batten in his usual pro-active and efficient style quickly put together an attractive coloured brochure outlining our club's details, code of ethics, meeting details and contact information. He also produced an entertaining short promotional video showing some of our past trips. The Association played that video on a continuous loop along with other club's videos throughout the weekend.

Our stand was manned in turn on Friday by Archie Lind, John Lyford and Steve Morris. Steve also assisted with some driving sessions on the 4WD track. On Saturday, Steve & Kerry Waterman and Tony & Jenny Downe manned the stand. On Sunday it was Alan Wyatt and Mark Bolton. Thanks to all of these people for taking their time to help promote our club.

The Association tent was well visited by the public looking for information on the recently announced opening of the Mundari 4wd track. This is an 820km route of unsealed roads and tracks from Mundaring to Albany. I'm not sure how the track was publicised but almost everyone we spoke to in the tent was there to find out about it. The video presentation about the track was very interesting and was introduced by Emma George (WA Olympic pole-vaulter). She and Mark Skeels were the people in the video showing a camping trip on section of the track, explaining how to obtain the track waypoints from the WA 4WD Association website and what to expect on the trip. It is certainly something our club could look at for trips over the next couple of years.

The advantage of being in the Association tent rather than on a dedicated club stand, is we managed to speak to quite a few people who weren't there to actually looking for information about a club. On a personal level, while the number of visitors wasn't large, I managed to have extended conversation with four prospects from the northern suburbs that seemed quiet interested. I think John and Steve also had some prospects. I'm not sure about Saturday or Sunday attendances. Whether that translates to further inquiries or visitors at our monthly meetings remains to be seen.

Interestingly, most people I spoke to were in roughly the same age group as our current membership. Younger people didn't seem to be interested in the 'formality' of a club, preferring to do their own thing or have a more casual arrangement to trips with friends and acquaintances via social media. I'm not sure how we can tap into this or even if that suits our club at all.

I also spoke to quite a few representatives of other clubs that had stands at the show. All of them are experiencing exactly the same issue as our club with respect to ageing and falling memberships. Some car-centric clubs such as the Mitsubishi club have relaxed the criteria and allow any type of vehicle now. Landcruiser Club and LandRover clubs are trying to hold firm at the moment. A couple of the clubs are now looking to amalgamate to survive or actually close down altogether. So it seems like many of the clubs are struggling to resolve the same problems we are facing and none of us seem to have come up with a decent solution or action plan. Where to from here?, I'm not sure.....

END OF YEAR AND CHRISTMAS FUNCTION
CARILLEY ESTATE WINERY
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10 2018

Our EOY function this year was held at Carilley Estate Winery in the Swan Valley.

We had 33 members and 2 little guests join us, one of whom became the raffle draw girl. Well done Tilly.

The setting was lovely with our own room for the whole evening and access to the gardens for pre dinner drinks. Everyone enjoyed the catch up time prior to dinner along with a few drinks of course.

The meal choices were delicious with plenty of choices to satisfy most people. The wines were also very good and prices quite reasonable for a winery. Despite the threat of a fine, a number of members did forget what they had ordered but a master copy was on hand to help jog their memories.

Staff at the venue were super helpful both on the night and during the planning stages. Ajay even said that if we come next year we can bring the caravans and stay overnight on the grounds and have breakfast in the restaurant the next morning. I quizzed him on what the local shire/council would say and his response was ..... "they all arrived this morning to have breakfast". So all good!

A big thank you to everyone for donating raffle prizes and buying tickets, we raised $217.00. Special mention to Alison for her raffle prize as we snaffled that to use as a thank you to Tilly for being our raffle draw girl. From what I have been told her face was a total delight when I gave her the Christmas bear. Hopefully there are some photos of her. She worked her little arms very hard pulling out dozens of raffle tickets and she was quite tired by the end of it.

Probably the only downside to the evening was the early finish time, I did know in advance that we could only go to 9.30pm. I will check with members at the planning meeting to see what they thought of the venue and the early finish, to see if we should rebook or look elsewhere for next year.

All in all another great social event with the Wanneroo Wanderers.

..... see you all at the next one.

AVON VALLEY DAY RUN

18th November 2018

It was a pleasant, partly cloudy day for our last day run of the year around the Avon Valley area and the Avon Valley National Park.

Our meeting place was in Bullsbrook for a 9.15am start. It was a small group, Bob & Leslie, Kym & Glenda (Kym had his nice new BT 50 on show), Sue & Steve, Paul & Debbie, Chris and Judy & Phil.

At 9.15 with Judy & Phil leading and Steve & Sue at the tail, we left Bullsbrook behind and headed out along Chittering Rd before turning onto the back tracks into the national park and to the Moondyne Convention Centre.

We were unable to go in for a look as the Land Rover Club had use of the place that weekend. (It is available for functions and corporate events and there is some sort of obstacle course and some four-wheel drive tracks, which is what the Land Rover club was doing there).

We made our way back out from the Moondyne Centre northward on the dirt tracks towards Julimar Rd. Being the trip leader at the front you get to see an array of wildlife, a couple of large eagles flew out, emus, lizards and of course the obligatory kangaroos.

As we got nearer Julimar Rd we stopped for a cuppa in a clearing next to the road before taking a side track through some interesting terrain that may have required 4WD for some, why take the easy road if there is a tricky one nearby!

We crossed Julimar Rd and again took the back tracks through Julimar State forest and meandered back onto Julimar Rd for a short distance before taking a right turn back onto the gravel and back into the national park. It was a short run down Plunkett Rd and as the track got narrow again, we weaved our way through the national park and ended up at 37 Mile campsite for lunch.

It is quite a nice campsite and you would probably be able to get caravans in there. There is a toilet, BBQ tables and a nice bush setting with the Avon river nearby. The road to the river has a gate which was locked so we were unable to go down and have a look unfortunately.

Following lunch, we again took the less used track and followed this back towards where we were earlier in the morning. This track got a bit narrow in places and a bit scratchy on the vehicles (sorry Kym) but only for a short distance.

We then back tracked our way to Bullsbrook for a finish at around 3pm and an ice cream to complete the day off!

Ledge Point weekend

We arrived on Thursday, having made our way up from Augusta via Herron Point and Moore River with Karen and Archie. We settled in and were soon joined by Carole and Alan Clarke. We spent a lazy day, relaxing. In the evening we went to the recreation room and had a game of pool, Archie and Alan against Carole and I. Although we lost we didn't disgrace ourselves.

On Friday the morning, we went for a walk up to the Ledge Point Country Club to check out the menu for that evening.

We waited for the others to arrive. By the evening Kym and Glenda, Steve and Kerrie, Cheryl and Bruce, Tony and Jenny, Sue and Steve, Chris, Cara, Tilly and Ella, Martine and Guy (Cara's parents) Andrew and Emily and Phil and Judy had arrived. This was our biggest group ever. Ten of us went up to the Country Club for dinner.

Paul and Mirella arrived Saturday morning.

WW - Ledge Point Golf Day November 2018

After hearing the tales of the legendary Ledge Point golf day, Kerri and I finally had the weekend without other commitments and could get up to Ledge Point to see what it was all about.

9 players along with their supportive 3 caddies were randomly drawn to play in 3 groups. The weather gods smiled upon us as we headed off on an early morning start in a very light breeze. Despite no rain, light winds - balls flew in all directions and rarely straight. There were some special rules applied and some dubious scoring resulted as apparently 'lost ball' simply don't count as you have already been punished by losing your ball.

Archie & Peter didn't reach the ladies tee - normally punished by having to buy a jug of beer, however Archie's shot was into the scrub and he quickly declared the ball "lost" thereby claiming that 'not reaching ladies tee' was unsubstantiated as the ball had not been found, and in fact it may have gone past.. other players may have also suffered the duff drive fate, however remained quiet.

After nine holes and many golf balls lighter the round was done, and at the cars it was revealed 'the bar didn't open until 3pm...'. So back to the caravan park we go to relive the finer points of our games and how we were robbed by just missing that birdy putt or 2.

Caddies were reported to have been classified as 'useless' with declared fear of snakes, false and misleading distance advice and words of encouragement such as "geez your crap.." and "can't you just hit it straight". There were also no accounts of any of the caddies having found any lost balls- However the debate then started around the point that 'had they actually found the ball it would not have been classified as lost..' at which time I realised my beer was empty and I wandered off to find another bottle.

Once the crowd was gathered for happy hour, clearly many realised they missed their opportunity to escape – presentations commenced. Archie won the 'lost balls' competition with 6, before Phil was announced as having the highest overall score and received a round of applause- before it was explained that meant he actually came last. Kym followed closely and then Tony, Peter having all been beaten by our Ladies Champion Cheryl. As the names were called and scored rattled off, I started to think..maybe I have a chance. If I won where would I put the trophy... Then came a tie with Archie and Steve Morris, leaving only two - myself and Bruce. I had won by one shot! – the glory fame and.... "Congratulations Steve W - You can write the report". Where's my trophy?

Thanks all – another great day and it really was fun.
